Ganesh Utsav 2016-17

The Ganeshotsav, which has been going on for the last ten days at the Vishwalata College of Arts, Commerce and Science run by Shri Sairaj Shikshan Pratishthan, concluded with an immersion procession of Shri Ganesha. It was almost morning in the college to say goodbye to Shri Ganesha. This year's Ganeshotsav was made memorable by many new initiatives. It can be mentioned that the procession of immersion of Lord Ganesha started from the bullock cart in the traditional way. He must have felt sorry for his beloved guests, who stayed with him for ten days. Even in this rainy weather, the enthusiasm of the college students did not diminish.

The main immersion procession started after the Aarti Sanstha of Shri Ganesha by Shri. Prashant dada Bhandare, Secretary of the swansha. While celebrating the environmentally friendly Ganeshotsav, the inclusion of traditional rural instruments like Sambal and Doli Baja gave a different impetus to the mind. The active participation of Shri. Bhushan Laghave, the trustee of the organization, who has been active in this immersion procession since the very beginning of Ganeshotsav, and the overflowing enthusiasm and joy of the students did not go unnoticed.

The main feature of the ceremony was the first two groups in Shri's immersion procession and then the students holding flags in their hands, the young women's sticks, the feta in the attire of these young women as well as the traditional attire and feta of the students and female professors. In the middle of the procession, a group of youngsters performed various adventure demonstrations in front of the villagers of Bhatgaon. After this, the amateur students paid their heartfelt homage to Lord Ganesha through traditional dance.

The whole village was listening to the praises of Ganesha's immersion procession of the college and the discussion of the discipline of the college. Sambhaji Maharaj's outfit made by Pravin Thackeray was more visible. After the procession returned to the entire village, Lord Ganesha was immersed in an artificial pool made in the college premises. Ganapatibappa Morya, come early next year, come on the half-ladu moon, Ganapatibappa on the rat, and with such announcements, the whole area was abuzz. It was sad to say goodbye to our beloved Ganarayana, but it was comforting to be able to put up with the grief of coming back next year. Your dear guest was said goodbye in a big way. Trustees and social activists Shri Bhushan Laghave, vice-principal Dnyandev Kadam, all students, teaching and non-teaching staff were present on this occasion. From the beginning of this Ganeshotsav to its immersion, the participation of all the students, especially the female students, was very pleasant and wonderful. The whole ceremony was eye-popping.

Ganesh Utsav 2017-18

Today is Anant Chaturthi. At the beginning of any auspicious deed, we need to remember Shri Ganesha. Shri Ganesha is the lord of 64 arts and 12 sciences. The yearning for the last few days is coming to an end today and that is our dear lord will come back next year. Ganapati always destroys obstacles and completes any task successfully. The day of their immersion is the one that has no end.

Shri Ganesha of Vishwalata College of Arts, Commerce and Science, run by Sairaj Shikshan Pratishthan, has been heartily bid farewell today not done. In the last few years, the college has made a sincere effort to create awareness among all, including environmental supplementary festivals, noise pollution and water pollution free festivals, Nirbhaya Ganeshotsav. This year, the financially literate Ganeshotsav financial awareness literacy Janajagar was wrapped in this wreath. This is a small effort in terms of the post-denomination financial crisis, the increased use of digital transactions and public awareness and training for them. During this period, various lectures were organized in the context of digital transactions as well as new tax laws on goods and services.

On the last day, the immersion procession was taken out from the college on the last day in a grand manner. The significance of this year's procession was that the college's Dholpathak was formerly called dholpathak, meaning only the Ganesh Immersion procession in Mumbai or Pune, but the rural areas were nowhere behind. While keeping the edge of sophistication, without breaking any of the traditional customs. The abandonment of noise polluting devices like this has caught the eye of all the villagers here.

During the night, the immersion procession passed through all the village areas and came near the artificial pond built in the college premises. On this occasion, Shri Manobhave Art Prarthana (Aarti) Secretary At the hands of Prashant Bhandare, with a tearfull eyes and Ganpati Bappa Morya, come early next year And Shri was immersed. The youth and villagers present did not forget to give acknowledgment that all these ceremonies were eye-catching.

During this Ganeshotsav, other professors and non-professor staff and students along with the Cultural and Social Department provided valuable assistance for proper planning and implementation.

Vishwalata Group of Education celebrates Shri Ganesh Utsav in a very different way like every year. We have to give something to the society by raising awareness on various topics like environment supplement, Ganesh Utsav of water conservation, awareness of youth safety, Ganesh Utsav of financial literacy. The main objective is to inculcate this social feeling. This year's Ganesh Utsav also had a unique and equally serious theme from the concept of Trustee Bhushan Laghave, which is "Ganeshotsav against global warming".

During the festival, college students and villagers of Bhatgaon village will be given lectures by various expert dignitaries, students will be given a platform to claim their rights. Shri's arrival was traditionally made on Thursday, September 13, 2018.

In his lecture, Mr. Bhausaheb Game expressed his concern over the use of chemical fertilizers as it is time for farmers to take an oath that they will not eat poison and will not poison crops.

Mr. Vibhandik, Head, Department of Biology, Swami Muktanand Senior College, was invited for the second lecture. He explained the impact of global warming on the living world. Man is becoming very selfish so he does not look back and forth to sacrifice anyone for his own benefit. And it doesn't consider anything beyond nature. He said that it was necessary to increase the forest cover by saving fuel like petrol, diesel, stopping the use of plastics and not increasing the cement forest.

In the third flower of the lecture, Mr. Madhav Deshpande Saheb, Bhumi Putra of Yeola taluka, a former agriculture officer, mentioned to the students that the ground water level in the soil is very serious and sensitive. He advised to use organic farming in order to cultivate alternate crops, eat vermicompost and make maximum scientific use of manure. He also explained how to produce vermicompost.

Samuhik Ganpati Atharva Shirsha Pathana organized by Under the leadership of prof. Dharaskar sir, 125 students took an active part in this. Apart from this, they presented their artistic talents to the students through various competitions related to the students such as oratory competitions, poster presentations and essay competitions.

The students of the college, professors and non-professors in traditional attire marched in the village to the tune of the traditional Sambhal instrument without any noise pollution in the bullock cart. In it, Ganpati Bappa Morya announced this early next year. The idol was immersed in an artificial pool made in the college premises and Sashru Nayan bade farewell to his beloved father.

For the Ganesh Utsav, the Secretary of the Society, Shri. Prashantdada Bhandare gave guidance.

Ganesh Utsav is celebrated in the traditional way as every year in Vishwalata Group of Education run by Shri Sairaj Shikshan Pratishthan. This year, as every year, the festival was celebrated with a socially conscious theme at the center. Earlier, we started giving something to the society by raising awareness on various issues like water conservation Ganeshotsav, youth safety awareness, Ganeshotsav of financial literacy, global anti-global warming Ganeshotsav, especially among college students. This year's Ganesh Utsav also dealt with the serious issue of health awareness through the concept of Trustee Bhushan Laghave

During the festival, Ganesh Utsav will be commemorated with a host of lectures by various expert doctors from Vishwalata Sankul, oratory competition, essay competition, poster presentation with the aim of providing a platform for students.

Expert Dr. Tushar Salunke (MS Surgeon, Manager Atma Malik Hospital) who was present as a lecturer in the college lecture series was organized on 5th September. In his lecture, he congratulated the students and professors of the college on the occasion of Ganeshotsav. He also conveyed the message to the college students that today's student should be stress free and free from addiction, from which tomorrow's India will happen. It will also help India to become a superpower. Students should reduce their use of social media and communicate so as to reduce the stress on the mind.

For the students, various topics related to the topic of the oratory competition were discussed on the topics of good health, happy life, good habits for good health, good health is the real wealth, good health through cleanliness. The poster presentation included posters on pesticides, plants, pollution, global warming and an essay competition on the topic of Good Health is the Future of India, Daily Diet, Side Effects of Addiction, Yoga and their Importance.

The students graced the procession with health awareness boards and announcements in which Ganpati Bappa Morya was seen chanting slogans early next year.

For the Ganesh Utsav, the Secretary of the Society, Shri. Prashant dada Bhandare provided guidance. Head of Cultural Department Prof. Babasaheb Gaikwad, Prof. Shinde S.B, Prof. Chhaya Bhagwat, Mrs. Khatkale A.B, Prof. Yogita Ghorpade, Mrs. Warpe A.S. took special efforts for the success of the festival.
